

Changes to Off Market status and Date Range Searching

FBS has incorporated changes to this feature based on user feedback. This change eliminates the need to open a new window to access off-market dates relevant to each status. This document will describe the various ways to utilize the Status and Off Market Dates fields.

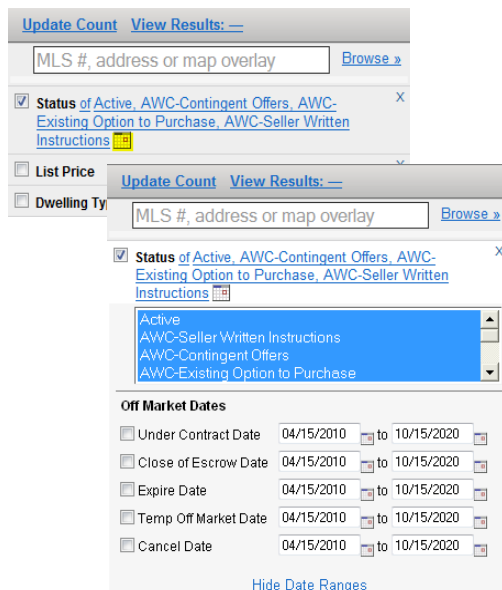

When conducting Quick or Map searches, the new design will no longer produce a second window through which to select dates. Instead you will now decide whether or not you want to expand or collapse the Status and Off Market Dates sections. These sections can be manipulated together or separate from one another. Your choices will be remembered when you toggle back and forth between viewing your results and returning to your criteria from the Edit Search tab. These changes will only apply to Quick and Map searches. The current design will remain in Full Searches.

Controlling the Field Views Independently

Clicking anywhere on the highlighted area in the image to the right opens the Status selection area and presents a link to See All and Select Date Ranges. Clicking the latter will open access to select Off Market Dates.

At the bottom of the dates section, a new link to Hide Date Ranges will appear, which will collapse the date selection area, but still leave access to the Status selection area.

Controlling the Field Views Simultaneously

Clicking on the Calendar icon opens both the Status and Off Market Dates selection areas. Clicking on it again, will collapse both sections.
